STATE BAPTIST CONVENTION HOLDS IN GRENADA

Gathering of This Great Religious Body Gladly Welcomed in Grenada. Something of What Is Gained by Preacher in the Home. Some Statistics Showing Growth of This Church.

Grenada capitulated this week to the Baptists of the State of Mississippi. They have been here from almost every important town and community within the State. The homes of the people without regard to denomination have been thrown open to them and everybody has enjoyed them. In truth, however much a few people may shy around a minister, there are but few of them who do not make the average man feel better by having them about and in the home. It is one of the regrettable things of the present day that the children of the home are denied that old time privilege of "hearing the preacher talk" in the home and of having him lay his hand upon their head and say wholesome, encouraging things. So it is good to have the preachers in the home. While perhaps not all the preachers are just what they ought to be, yet none will gainsay that the average minister of the gospel leads a better religious and moral life than the average man who is not a minister. Thus it is that it may be said that Grenada is better off by having had these men of God in her midst.

They began to come in Monday afternoon and they kept coming on nearly every train until Wednesday morning. The Convention proper did not begin until Tuesday night. The Laymen's conference had the right of way for the first twenty-four hours. Monday night Hon. B. G. Lowry addressed the conference, his subject being, "The Authority of God's Word." His address was very interesting.

Owing to the fact that the Sunday School addition to the First Baptist church could not be completed in time for the Convention, the meeting Monday night was held at the Central Baptist church. But the meetings thereafter were held at the First church; such temporary arrangements having been made so as to not only utilize the new addition but to make it comfortable as well.

There have been many of the notables of the Baptist church from all over the South in attendance and many great addresses made. Every phase of religious life and church work has been brought under review and discussed, and the discussions have been such as to show the sincere earnestness of the speakers. Those present can not have failed to get a better understanding of how to best accomplish desired results.

There have been present the following former pastors of the First Baptist church in Grenada: Revs. N. W. P. Bacon, W. R. Cooper, L. P. Trotter and J. E. Quinn. Two Ex-Governors, A. H. Longino and Theo. G. Bilbo have been present. Besides there have been some of the most prominent citizens of the State present as laymen; to undertake to mention all of them, would be a task too large for the purposes of this article. Much regret was expressed that Hon. Will D. Upshaw, the congressman on crutches, of Georgia, could not be present. He wired that the calling of the extra session of Congress by the President for Nov. 20, made it impossible for him to be present.

This year is the centennial year of the organization of the Baptist State Convention. The address for the celebration was given by Dr. E. L. Lipsy of Jackson. The First Baptist Church was organized near Natchez in the summer of 1798 under the leadership of Rev. Richard Curtis. This organization was made possible because Spanish rule had given place to the Stars and Stripes.

The first Baptist Association was organized in 1806. In 1822 representatives from three associations met and organized what is now the Mississippi Baptist State Convention.

The following table reveals the growth of the Baptist cause in the state:

	1822	1922
Associations	3	79
Churches	55	1,600
Baptisms	128	12,043
Ministers	36	585
Members	1,551	670,000

The local pastor, Rev. W. E. Farr, has been about the "runningest" man in town. He has tried to look after everything and everybody and well has he performed that task. He

RECENT METHODIST CONFERENCE MAKES CHANGES

Rev. W. W. Woollard Goes to Starkville. Rev. Melville Johnson Comes Here. Mr. Johnson a Young Man. Mr. Tucker Again Presiding Elder. Appointments for This District.

The recent Methodist Conference at Water Valley sent Rev. Melville Johnson to this charge. Mr. Johnson is a young man, being only about thirty years of age, but by those who should be the best able to judge, he is regarded as an exceptionally good preacher and as one of the coming men in southern Methodism. His first charge was at Holcomb, this county. He was next at West station, then at Hernando, next at Batesville and from Batesville he was sent to New Albany where it is stated he has acceptably served that charge for two years. He is a son of a Methodist minister of this conference, and it is always regarded as a credit to a son to follow in the footsteps of his father, especially when that father is a good man. Mr. Johnson was married while at Batesville, his wife being a daughter of Prof. Gowdy who has so long lived at Batesville and who enjoys the unique distinction of serving as superintendent of a school while living in another town. He is at the head of the Sardis school.

The retiring pastor, Rev. W. W. Woollard, has a host of admiring friends in Grenada, and there can be no doubt that it would have greatly pleased a vast number of the Methodist congregation here to have had him returned. His Presiding Elder states that this church is one of the best organized in the district. The best wishes of the entire town go with him and his family to their new home.

Of course it was taken for granted that Rev. R. A. Tucker, the Presiding Elder of this district, would be returned. Had this not been done, not only would the Methodist of the town but the entire community been ready almost to take arms. Mr. Tucker is faithful to the cause he represents, and can be counted on at all times to aggressively declare himself for the cause of Christ and in behalf of the better and nobler things of society. He is broadly sympathetic and is endowed with a wonderful amount of common sense and never fails to manifest a just appreciation of the views and of the position of his fellows.

The North Mississippi Conference of the M. E. Church, South, which adjourned at Water Valley Sunday night after a five day session made the following appointments for this district:

R. A. Tucker, presiding elder; Abbeville, R. G. Lord; Ashland, R. E. Crowson; Coffeeville, G. A. Baker; Dark Hill, G. D. Burt; Durant, R. P. Neblett; Ebenezer, A. J. Henry; Grenada, Melville Johnson; Holcomb, W. F. Rogers; Holly Springs, W. R. Lott; Kimbrel, J. A. Goad; Lamar, W. C. Beasley; Lexington, J. W. Ward; Oxford, L. M. Lipscomb; Paris, G. W. Russell; Pickens, J. S. Duncan; Poplar Creek, G. W. Robertson; Red Banks, W. W. Bruner; Sallis, R. G. A. Carlisle; Tie Plant, H. G. Roberts; Vaiden and West, J. W. Raper; Waterford, W. R. Liming; Water Valley, First Church, L. P. Wasson; Water Valley, Main Street, M. E. Scott; Winona Station, Carroll Varner; Winona Circuit, J. S. Maxey; president Grenada College, J. R. Countiss; professor Grenada College, J. E. Stephens; conference missionary secretary, B. P. Jace; assistant secretary board of missions, R. H. Ruff.

Transfers—R. T. Hollingsworth in the class of the first year from the Mississippi conference. C. L. Rogers an elder from the South Georgia conference. B. F. Hammond an elder from the North Alabama conference. W. A. Langley in the class of the first year from the North Georgia conference. R. G. Moore, a deacon from the China conference.

Transfers Out—J. A. Poe, an elder to the Louisville conference.

Mr. Jack Brewer, well and favorably known in Grenada, is again with the Planters Hardware Co. Mr. Brewer made Grenada his home before the World-War and enlisted here with the Grenada company.

played the part of a pleasing host to the Convention. He had the aid and the cooperation of his church most admirably. Mr. John P. Pressgrove was at the head of the entertainment committee and is to be commended for the interest in what he undertook. He did well.

REILLY BEING URGED TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR

Interview Shows That He Has Splendid Grasp of Responsibilities of Great Office. Something of Reilly's Early Struggles and What He Has Accomplished.

Hon. Marion W. Reilly of Meridian was in Grenada Sunday afternoon on his return home from Greenwood where he had been to deliver an address to the American Legion Post of that city. Mr. Reilly was accompanied by his fifteen year old daughter, Miss Dorothy, who has been almost his constant companion since his wife died, now nearly five years ago. Mr. Reilly has many warm personal friends and admirers in Grenada County and when it was learned that he was at the hotel, a number of these called upon him.

In view of the fact that Mr. Reilly once made a most creditable race for the office of governor, and that more or less has been said in the public press during the past few months about his entering the forth-coming contest in Mississippi, several asked him directly about his intentions as to the race for governor. In answering these questions Mr. Reilly said in part:

"It is an honor worthy of any man's ambition to be governor of one of the States of this great American Union, and, according to my judgment, the man who does not appreciate having his name associated with the cares and honors of the office, is wanting in some of the essentials of good citizenship. I sometimes almost shudder that so many kind and generous friends of mine in all parts of the State think that I am worthy of the great office. The persistent demands on me to enter the race, show once again how charitably inclined we are with those whom we know to be our friends.

"It is a big undertaking to make a race for the governorship of Mississippi. No man should be chosen governor whom the people do not thoroughly know, and the only way for the people to get intimately in touch with the man seeking their suffrage for this great and important office is for him to go up and down the highways and the byways of the State and discuss the issues that concern the welfare of the State.

"When I made the race before, I did my best to appeal to the sober, better judgment of the people of the State. And while I failed to win, I think subsequent events have justified the campaign I then made. If I enter the race, I shall do the same thing again. I appreciate, of course, that the country has moved forward in many things since that time, yet principles do not change and justice is eternal.

"If I were to consult my personal feelings and think of myself alone rather than the welfare of my State, I am sure that I would unhesitatingly decline to run for governor. I realize that every man owes a duty to his country, his state and his country, and that no man has a just right to decline to respond to the proper demands for public service. In my judgment, the next four years are going to be crucial years in the history of our State and of our Nation. This is a time when every good man ought to be wide-awake and at his post of duty. We need old time sanity, and pure Americanism in our land. We need a business handling of the affairs of our State. Factionalism has been the bane of the commonwealth. When I look back over our history and think of some of the great men who have filled the office of governor, I sometimes think it almost a pity that we cannot call them back again. But we must go forward, our eyes must be to the future.

"If I am convinced that a sufficient number of our people think that I should be placed in the governor's office, I hardly see how I can decline to enter the race. And if I should be elected, I shall consecrate every ounce of my energy, and all the ability I have to give the State an honest, wise, courageous and business-like administration of the office."

Mr. Reilly is yet quite a young man. He is just a little past the fortieth mile post. He is hale and vigorous and there are few men in the State better fitted to endure the hardships of a campaign than he. He is a strong and convincing speaker, and whether one agrees with him or not, there are but few who question his sincerity and honesty.

Marion Reilly is truly a self-made man. When he was well nigh grown he was climbing telephone poles and driving a wagon which carried telephone repairs. His success at the bar has been

BONDED INDEBTEDNESS OF COUNTIES OF STATE

Compilation Made Two Years Ago Ran Then to Over Fifty Million Dollars. Much in Bonds Issued Since Then. Time to Take a Reckoning.

By Edgar S. Wilson
Jackson, Miss., November 14.—After extended research and vigilant inquiry, there is herewith given what is believed to be a correct statement of the bonded indebtedness of the various counties of Mississippi relating to roads and bridges as well as the total bonded indebtedness of each of the eighty-two counties of the state.

These figures are of date December 31, 1920. They have never been published before in their present form anywhere and cannot fail to prove of tremendous interest to every taxpayer in every beat, municipality, city and county in the commonwealth.

The total bonded indebtedness of the various counties of the state for roads and bridges is $41,429,095.13 and the total bonded indebtedness of said counties is $50,714,200.98.

The publication of the road and bridge bonded indebtedness of the 82 counties together with the total bonded indebtedness of the counties will perhaps startle many Mississippians as the figures which follow by counties will be a veritable revelation to the people of the state.

phenomenal. As district attorney of the Natchez district, he made for himself a name as a prosecutor that terrorized the law-breaker. When a man was indicted by the grand jury in Mr. Reilly's court, he could make sure that he would never be persecuted, but he could also rest assured that he was going to be prosecuted with that ability and power which brought back memories of Prentiss, Reuben Davis and some of the other great advocates that adorned the life of the State in the first century of its statehood. Political power and social station of an accused made certain that Marion Reilly would lay on MacDuff.

Mr. Reilly will give a good account of himself in whatever he undertakes. For the past six years, he has resided in Meridian and it is not saying too much to state that the people of Lauderdale County have learned to love him.

RUSSELL AND CASTELL LOCK HORNS OVER PARDONS

While Russell in Memphis Lending His "Moral" Influence to Foot Ball Game Castell Pardons Two Negroes. Says Russell Did Not Pardon Because They Were Without Means.

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Governor Lee Russell and Lieutenant Governor H. H. Castell are at war on the question of pardons. The courts will be called upon to decide the validity of two pardons for life term convicts which the lieutenant governor attempted to grant Saturday while Governor Russell was presumably absent from the state attending a football game at Memphis.

Governor Russell contends that he was not out of the state while the lieutenant governor was attempting to exercise the power of clemency, that he left Memphis immediately after receiving a message from his private secretary, Macy Dinkins, that the lieutenant governor was in Jackson and got back on Mississippi soil in time to forestall the latter's attempted exercise of power.

Governor Russell went to Memphis to witness the football game between the University of Mississippi and the University of Tennessee, having been invited as an honor guest, but reports from Memphis indicate that he did not even get to see the game; that he took hurried departure from Memphis in an automobile Saturday morning, crossed the Mississippi line, and from Horn Lake notified his private secretary that he was on state soil and discharging the functions of his office.

The Memphis report further has it that the governor remained at Horn Lake all day, in order to forestall a second attempt by Lieutenant Governor Castell to grant the two pardons, and will return by train to the capital Sunday morning.

The governor was emphatic in his orders to private secretary Dinkins to disregard all orders issued by the lieutenant governor, and insisted that executive orders from himself only be obeyed.

Castell also emphatic. Lieutenant Governor Castell is equally emphatic in declaring that he was acting within his rights and that the two convicts to whom he is trying to extend clemency ought to be discharged.

"It is their chance to secure freedom they both deserve," says the lieutenant governor.

"They are penniless and friendless and a convict of that sort in the Mississippi penitentiary under existing conditions has a mighty poor chance. If they had money or influential friends, it might be different."

The convicts in question are Horace Hoskins sent up from Leflore county in 1915 to serve a life term for murder and Walter Cleveland sent up from Sunflower county in 1908 to serve a life term for criminal assault.

The lieutenant governor states that he has personally investigated the record of both prisoners, has vainly sought through other means to secure release, and frankly admits that he made up his mind several weeks ago that if he ever had an opportunity to temporarily exercise the executive power he would grant them pardons.

Man is Blind

An investigation, according to the lieutenant governor, shows that Walter Cleveland, who has served fourteen years is blind and helpless; that his conviction was a frame-up, and outrageous miscarriage of justice, and since the record of the prison shows he has been an exemplary prisoner, he ought to be discharged.

Cleveland, according to the lieutenant governor's investigation, was given a life term for alleged attack on a negro, and that the frameup was for the purpose of preventing him from jumping a labor contract with a Delta planter. The negro was penniless, and a lawyer appointed to defend him did not take the trouble to do so, advising the negro to enter plea of guilty and take a life sentence.

In the case of Horace Hoskins, according to Lieutenant Governor Castell, there was substantial evidence of self-defense and the heaviest sentence the prisoner should have received was a term for manslaughter, the state's testimony showing that the killing grew out of a friendly scuffle and Hoskins had been wounded with a pick before he struck the fatal blow.

Woods Eastland, a prominent attorney of Forest, is acting as the

TEXAS WOMAN SAYS IT'S WORTH WEIGHT IN

OUR COAL SUPPLY

The coal that lies unmined in the ground is enough to last only 200 years, under present wasteful methods of mining. So says Percy Tetlow, director of the Ohio State Department of Industrial Relations. The Geological Survey, on the other hand, says that the unmined coal reserves of America are about 5,000,000,000 tons, or enough to last more than 8,000 years unless we begin burning coal twice as fast as in the last five years.

The most striking characteristic about experts is that no two of them seem to agree. Somewhere there exists an "expert" who can prove almost anything.

THE COUNTY NEWSPAPER: SEVEN REASONS FOR IT

(From The Greene County Journal) To The Greene County Journal:

Dear Editor: I am giving my views why a citizen should subscribe for his county paper:

1. It gives the official news.
2. It gives all the good things that happen in the county.
3. It gives the bad things that happen in the county, also. By so doing we citizens are kept informed as to the ways of the county.
4. It gives you notice of any legal thing that might rob you of your home.
5. It tells you who is running for office, and then the voters can decide, by reason of that information, who to vote for.
6. It is good for your children to read—if it is a good, clean paper and is put up and backed up by the good and best people of Greene county.
7. A county without a newspaper is a county far behind in one of the civic action.
8. A county without a newspaper a county far behind in one of the greatest educational forces.

Get the notion out of your head that when you subscribe for your county paper you get nothing for something ($1.50). But pay up, and let all pull together for a better paper, more real news; better schools, churches, roads, and a better county to live in, and we all will be better off.

When you subscribe for The Greene County Journal and pay the price, you are not really through. You should then give it all the advertisements your business will carry. Give the editor all the news of your section, and stand back of him with all your personal influence in the campaign he is waging for the good of the county. You will then be dealing justly with our paper. You may not love the little editor and he may not love us, but that is not the thing we are after. You have something in common, the advancement and prosperity of the towns and communities and the county and state in which we live.

When the election time comes let's read our paper and pick out the best campaign timber that is faultless and then we will be on a better and cheaper basis. Ignorance has already cost Greene county people millions of dollars; so let's get posted, and save the future generation.

Yours for the right and uplift of Greene county,
W. P. Rhinehart.

HIS JOB AWAITS HIM

The greatest benefactor perhaps will come some day
To charm the most disturbing of all our ills away;
He may be large or little; he may be young or old;
But he will give us something worth more than bags of gold.

The wars may be ended before he shall appear;
The things that cost us dearly no longer may be dear,
And men may mock and hiss him, or gladly spread his fame,
And here and there a mother may give her child his name.

He will not build asylums; he will not cure disease;
He will not call the navies from all the seven seas;
He may not waste his efforts in hunting low and high
For means to make the country unquestionably dry.

There may be no processions, no blaring bands to play
When he comes benefiting in his peculiar way;
His efforts may be hampered, his aims misunderstood,
But what he does will surely be for the common good.

The greatest benefactor is yea to be effect;
He may be long in coming; he may be slow to act,
But soon or late somebody will teach us to be glad
By getting rid of troubles that we have never had.

BOOKS AND THE HOME

There has been so much written concerning the value of reading, studying and communing with good books, that it seems almost trite sometimes to refer to the subject again.

And yet it should be continually impressed upon the minds of people that they should read these treasures of the world. This fact particularly should be brought to the attention of the youth of our country in order that they may grow to manhood and womanhood with a store-house of splendid information, with more fixed ideals, with a truer conception of life and the things worth living for.

As has been pointed out time and time again you may take from a man all his worldly possessions but no thief can enter the inner resources of the mind and take aught therefrom.

And there is no better place to have those books than in the home where they are of easy access and where you can study them in leisure moments.

This recalls how Neil Abbott once told of the joy which the presence of books gives:

"And in the corner of my house, I have books! The miracle of all my possessions, more wonderful than the wishing cap of the Arabian tales, for they transport me instantly not only to all places, but to all times. By my books I can conjure up before me, to vivid existence, all the great and good men of antiquity; and for my individual satisfaction, I can make them act over again the most renowned of their exploits; the orators declaim for me; the historians recite; the poets sing; and from the equator to the pole, or from the beginning of time until now, by my books I can be where I please."

That is truly a wonderful way to express it and the fact of the matter is that it is just as true as it is wonderful. Everyone should have a corner in the home filled with books.—Fargo (N. D.) Forum.

SOME OF THE MANY VALUES OF AN EDUCATION

Recent statistics published in New York show that "boys who had left school at the age of 14 were earning, at the age of 25 or eleven years later, just $661 per year, or less than $2 per day. Boys leaving school at 18, upon reaching the age of 25, seven years later were earning $1,612 per year.

"Each year your boy or girl spends in high school is equal to a capital of $3,000 when they start in life, and each year in college is equal to a capital of $5,000."

SHOWS THAT THEY WERE NOT MODERN JOSEPHS

The country is treated to the spectacle of several ministers having lost their lives recently in such a manner as to create the impression that they were not modern Josephs. These cases are but the few in the hundreds of thousands of ministers in this beautiful land who have never gone astray. Scandal is paraded too much we think in the newspapers, however, we mean no indictment of the ministry when we say that these deplorable affairs show once again that married men and married women are getting beyond the lines of safety when they find excuses too frequently to be in the company of other women and other men.

Take it from us, old sister, Joseph ran or he might not have stood the temptation the second time.

FRED SULLENS

It really does our soul good to read after Fred Sullens these days. We have always admired Fred in spite of much of his "cussedness."

But today he is a new star in the journalistic life of the State. Along with his clear, lucid and illuminating discussions of public questions, Fred is also pointing to things above and beyond this life, and is endeavoring to get men and women to travel the paths of righteousness and Christian love which is an unending remedy for all personal and public ills.

May Fred grow in wisdom. May he see more of the beauty and sublimity of God in all things, and thereby gain more power to tell people the plain reasonable things of the gospel of Christ.

Ottie Lawrence, editor of the Grenada Sentinel, insists that he is not stuck up because the first polo games ever played in Mississippi were staged at the Grenada Fair, but nevertheless we have it on good authority that since those Yankees visited Grenada Ottie has been wearing a monocle and spats and carrying a cane.—Jackson Daily News.

The above shows that our friend, Sullens, is still confined in Jackson. There are many institutions in Jackson for the care of the halt, the lame and the blind and one, only, for the care of those whose mind is on crutches, and it is pretty well known that the last institution referred to is full. In the language of Hambones, "its jess like I tells you," Jackson is jealous of Grenada because we have had the most notable Fair of the whole South. We are going to see that Fred has a free ticket to our next one.

WILL DIE ON THANKS.

Every week this office, and in fact every weekly newspaper office in the State receives long articles from individuals, societies, associations, institutions, departments, corporations, or colleges, requesting that we publish same free. When we look at the letter head and envelope that carries the polite request for free publicity, and any other printing matter that accompanies the articles for publication we notice that it was not printed in the job departments of this office, that it was not printed in the job departments of the other weekly papers and in many instances it was not printed in the State.

Ninety out of every 100 of these articles carry no news of value, but are promoting some scheme whereby a fellow way down the line expects to make some money. The other 10 may not have an ulterior motive but carry no real news value.

Why is this? Do the free publicity hunters think that a newspaper exists on thanks or that they are not equipped to do the job work, or take no notice of the indifference shown to the job departments of the weekly papers when they have their job printing done, for which they pay real money? If this is in your mind get it out. The job departments of the Mississippi papers are equipped to do any class of printing. All they want is a chance to bid on your job work. If they are not given this privilege, then you had better save your stamps. In this new day in the newspaper game the weekly newspaper plant is the same as the city plant. The same class of work is done now in the country as in the city. The same salaries are paid. It costs a lot of money to run a newspaper and job department.

The day of free publicity has about passed. It has had its inning and made a home run.

Mr. Free Publicity Hunter, Listen! Give those you are asking favors of a chance to bid on your printing that you pay real money for and then if you make a request for publicity it would receive consideration. This business policy means you are helping to keep the newspapers living instead of trying to thank them to death.—Winona Times.

"LEE'S MAJESTE"

Hey diddle! Hey diddle!
Please solve this riddle
Of gubernatorial haste.
Was Lee's border crossing
From pure love of bossing
And motives assuredly chaste?

Man acts strangely with regard to state border lines at times. An instance supporting that assertion is Governor Lee M. Russell's hurried departure from Memphis for a point on Mississippi soil last Saturday, as told by The Associated Press.

The motive for the governor's action is supposed to be a desire to prevent Lieutenant Governor Homer Casteel from issuing pardons. If that is the real reason for the executive action, it would appear that he desires to effect a corner on the pardon dispensing business in the State. We do abhor greediness.

In other lines of business the secondary officer who conducts the business in the chief's absence along the same lines the chief pursues is commended. Why was Mr. Russell so anxious to prevent the freeing of another nigger or two?

The announced purpose of Russell's trip to Memphis to see a football game places him before Mississippians in a new light. Moral support from the governor of one's state should make one play one's best, we should think. Moral support for the state's institutions ought to characterize all executives. But isn't that word "moral" getting too close to a certain character to retain its morality?

Miss Birkhead would have us believe that we possess a character for our governor who is qualified for the role of "Lee the Libertine"; promiscuous pardons argue that our state executive's pet name should be "Lee the Liberator"; but Saturday's affair indicates that we should call him "Lee the Line-leaper."—Hattiesburg American.

SUPREME COURT PASSES ON INSURANCE SUIT

The Supreme Court of Mississippi handed down Monday a decision in the celebrated litigation instituted by the State Revenue Agent nearly two years ago to collect penalties from something over 125 fire insurance companies doing business in the State for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws of the State. In short, the charge was that the insurance companies had combined or confederated together to charge the same rates. The court stood 3 to 3, in fact only two of the Judges absolutely agreed on the fines imposed and the law as interpreted by the Chancellor.

It would be idle for a layman to attempt to follow the ramifications of judicial minds in arriving at legal conclusions. This case has been cussed and discussed from one end of the State to the other since its institution. There has been more rot heralded abroad about this litigation than any ever heretofore before the courts of the State. At first there were some who were almost ready to brand the Revenue Agent as worse than a hyena. He was made by some to appear blacker than the demon who would wantonly trample on the rights of a woman or who would rob an infant of its nourishment. The fire insurance companies were made to appear by some as innocents. They were held up as great institutions who had come into Mississippi with philanthropic motives to do the people the favor of issuing them little instruments of writing whereby they could get pay for property burned. It was even said that they were making no money, yet the financial statements of the leading fire insurance companies of the United States show that there are few concerns that have made money more rapidly.

We do not know what the legal term for "a combination of rates" is. It seems the lawyers do not know. But it is an undeniable fact that these companies DO charge, or DID charge, the same price for doing the same identical thing. Of course it is barely possible—and that is the most charitable term that can be used—that this was an accident, but no business man will say that it was by accident.

There was a seeming effort to stampede the State when the cry went up, after the insurance companies had got beyond the confines of the State, that the public would suffer for insurance. But if this has happened, it has been only in isolated cases. Two substantial Mississippi companies have been organized as one of the results of the litigation.

If the fire insurance companies have been arraigned and are to be punished on technicalities, they are but getting a dose of what the average one of them seeks to give the insured when a fire occurs and an effort is made to collect on the loss sustained.

The penalty of $8,055,075, is large indeed, and in all fairness, it cannot be said that it is not excessive. But if that is the law, then who wrote the law? It must be remembered, however, that the penalty imposed covered alleged violations for a number of years. But to say that if the penalty is ever paid at all, it will be paid out of the pockets of the people of the State, is the merest twaddle, it is absolutely puerile.

We think it a pity that a law of such doubtful interpretation like the one under which the insurance suits was instituted, should ever have been enacted. The evident purpose was wholesome, but it seems there was too much lee-way on both sides.

We do not think the Revenue Agent should be censured for bringing the suit, nor do we think he ought to be commended for it. If it is the law, the fact that it had for so long been overlooked, in no wise relieved him of his duty. We have yet to see the color of the man's eye, who, with a fee or commission of over one million dollars dangling before him, would not have done as the present Revenue Agent did. But let it not be overlooked if the Revenue Agent gets over one million dollars for his work, that something over five million will go into the State treasury.

The bungling part of the whole business is the bungling job of enacting a law and then asking that it be not enforced. The thing some legislators ought to have done several years ago was to reduce the penalties carried in the statute.

The insurance companies are entitled to a square deal and the State of Mississippi should see that they have it. Likewise the people of Mississippi are entitled to a square deal and nothing more. But let's be sane and reasonable about the whole thing.

WHEREIN THE MILLS OF THE GODS, THOUGH THEY GRIND SLOWLY, GRIND EXCEEDING FINE

In 1794 there was an uprising in Pennsylvania, known as the "Whiskey Rebellion," against the enforcement of the Excise law which had been enacted by Congress in March, 1791, on domestic spirits. The attempt to enforce the law was followed by wild excesses, stormy times and riotous violence, the Federal Revenue officers in some cases being tarred and feathered. So aggressive became the violators of the law that in order to crush what reached the magnitude of a rebellion against the Government, Washington sent a large military force into Western Pennsylvania against these law violators. One of the most prominent leaders fled to New Orleans and others were tried and convicted of treason, though subsequently pardoned.

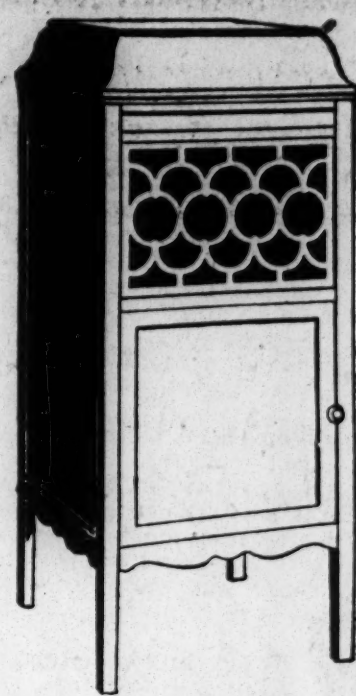

A somewhat similar condition developed in 1862 and continued for ten years following the enactment by Congress of a tax on whiskey.

In the "Whiskey Rebellion" in 1794 and between 1862 and 1872 the activity of the liquor interests against the enforcement of these laws was, in proportion to populations, greater even than is the present fight against the Volstead act and the 18th amendment.

In regard to the situation prevailing between 1862 and 1872 the New York Journal of Commerce, one of the foremost commercial publications of the country and which is not a prohibition advocate, gives the following interesting facts:

"In the year 1861 whiskey was not taxed, and the price fell as low as thirteen cents a gallon in the Cincinnati market. In fact, as one of our early economic writers remarked, 'previous to 1860 a man could undoubtedly get drunk in the United States with a less expenditure of money than in any part of the civilized world.' Due to the tax needs of Civil War time, Congress laid a tax of twenty cents per gallon by the act of July 1, 1862, and later raised it successively to sixty cents, $1.50, and even $2 per gallon by December, 1864. It is interesting to note that it was found by careful investigation that during the succeeding six years up to 1868 only about fifteen to twenty per cent on the average of all the whiskey manufactured in this country ever paid any tax at all. Even as late as the years 1871 and 1872 the Whiskey Ring and other scandals in our national administration reached a point of rascality and open dishonesty seldom equalled even by the palmiest bootleggers of the present day. During the years following the exposure of these scandals there was a gradual stiffening up in the Internal Revenue service, with the final result that, with the exception of certain districts of especial difficulty, the Excise laws were enforced with comparative thoroughness and efficiency. In the light of this experience, ten or fifteen years is not too long a period to attain the efficient enforcement of any Prohibition law, and probably more time will be needed for a stringent measure such as the Volstead act, if ever it is to become effective."

The lawlessness of the liquor traffic, its murderous activities and its effort to control politics, as in the scandal days of 1862 to 1872, when the reputations of many public men were forever ruined, is only in keeping with the lawlessness of the present. But in crushing these activities the mills of the gods may grind slowly but in the end exceedingly fine and civilization each time make one step forward and buries forever in ruin the reputation of the liquor-interest advocates.—Manufacturers Record.

A DOUBLE WEDDING

Hamilton-Kimbrough
Harrison-Kimbrough

Did you ever sit where you could look down upon an orchestra and follow the technique of the performance—the movement of the conductor, the response of each player? And did you not almost lose the spell of the music itself in the absorbing spectacle of this perfect response of man to his call? Such an experience was given the writer in witnessing one of the sweetest, simplest, most sacred and solemn occasions November 9th, when two lovely and charming daughters of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Kimbrough of Grenada, were given in holy wedlock to the men of their choice.

The full harmony and effect of this impressive double wedding, the glamour of romance which hovered about the picturesque center made more impressive because thirty-seven years ago in the fall of the year, amid just the same surroundings of family ties and home atmosphere, the mother and father of the brides and a sister of their mother and her sweetheart were married under a single ceremony.

The Kimbrough home is noted for its rare hospitality and the same rare understanding of nature's method was conceivable in the simple placement of ferns, trailing vines and flowers in and around the colonnade of the spacious hall.

At the extreme end of the hall was the piano, where the soft, pink shades of the lamp threw a radiance around two of the charming daughters of this household. Mrs. H. G. Talbert, who presided at the piano, and Mrs. W. E. Bousche, with her violin, both sisters of the brides, gave a beautiful and appropriate musical program. Thus was there harmony and a great theme expressed.

The golden moments of the day were growing more precious as they waned, when at 4:20 Rev. W. E. Farr, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony which made Miss Lalah Kimbrough the bride of Mr. Robert T. Hamilton of Grenada, and likewise Miss Edith Kimbrough of Mr. G. Dewey Harrison of Memphis, Tenn.

The brides were lovely in three-piece suits of navy "poire-twill" with hats and gloves to match, each carrying an armful of lovely white chrysanthemums.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy four, amid showers of rice, caught the north bound train for Memphis, Nashville and other points. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will occupy a room at Mrs. A. T. Roane's and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison will reside in Memphis. Mr. Hamilton is the efficient night operator in Grenada and Mr. Harrison is a trusted city salesman for Reynolds Tobacco Company of Memphis. Both men are well known in Grenada and have the trust and esteem of the business world. The brides are the fourth and fifth daughters of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Kimbrough, who through their charming personalities, have a host of friends and admirers. Their popularity was attested in the many lovely and useful wedding presents and their friends wish for them life's richest blessings in their voyage through life together.

MR. J. P. SISK WEDS IN OXFORD

At 8 o'clock, p. m., Saturday, Nov. 11, Mr. J. Paul Sisk and Miss Marvel Ramey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Ramey, were married at the home of the bride, Rev. L. M. Lipscomb saying the ceremony. The bride and groom, after receiving the felicitations and congratulations of many friends, left for New Orleans where they are spending their honeymoon, after which they will be at home to their friends in the residence of Mrs. John Garner.

Mr. Sisk is a young man of many excellencies of character. He came to Grenada about two years ago when the Davis-Mize wholesale concern opened here. He has shown by his management of this concern that he is a gentleman of unusual business ability and judgment. He has popularized this establishment and made for himself a large circle of friends. Aside from his business qualifications, he may be counted on for the right in all matters that pertain to the welfare of the community.

Mrs. Sisk is a member of one of the most prominent families in the town of Oxford and is a lady whose attractiveness of person is only surpassed by the beauty of her character. The Sentinel wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Sisk that they may garner richly of the goodness of life.

FIRST TREE PLANTED ARMISTICE DAY

It has been planned for a long time by the Jim Trimble Post No. 35 of the American Legion to plant an avenue of memorial trees at intervals of 125 feet along the Jefferson Davis Highway in Grenada County, one tree for each man in Grenada County who served in the World War. The first step in this great movement was taken last Saturday morning at ten o'clock when the first tree was planted with appropriate ceremonies. Last Saturday was selected as a fitting day to begin the work because of the fact that it was the anniversary of that great day in 1918 when hostilities between the warring nations ceased.

The tree was planted on the highway just south of the city limits. After a fervent prayer by Dr. J. W. Young, the tree was presented by Jim Trimble Post by Mrs. J. P. Broadstreet in fitting language on behalf of the Woman's Club. Mr. Wm. C. McLean, Jr., Post Commander, made the dedicatory speech, after which the actual planting was done. It had been planned to plant five trees but these plans failed to materialize on account of delays in transportation.

DR. JAS. R. KIDWELL

In this week's Sentinel appears the announcement that Dr. Jas. R. Kidwell is reopening his office in Grenada. Dr. Kidwell, during his stay here last year, made a splendid impression on the people of Grenada who came to know him and they are delighted that he is back in the city again.

Dr. Kidwell was educated at Kirksville, Mo., and specialized in eye, ear, nose and throat troubles. He took postgraduate work and served as interne in the A. S. O. Hospital at Kirksville for some time, all of which better qualified him for his work. Dr. Kidwell is introducing something new in Grenada, in fact, something that is new in the South, for the diagnosing and treating of diseases, the Electronic Reactions of Abrams, which he will use in conjunction with osteopathy.

REVS. DARLING AND WEST

The editor of this paper had the privilege of entertaining during the Baptist Convention, Revs. A. J. Darling of Shannon and H. G. West of Sherman. They are both fine characters and are undoubtedly doing a great work in the Master's vineyard. If everybody else had delegates as easily entertained as these good men, they will feel just a bit lonesome when they are gone.

CROP REPORT FOR MISSISSIPPI

Gulfport, Miss., Nov. 8.—Continued dry weather has permitted rapid harvesting in all parts of the state during the past month, according to the report of D. A. McCandless, Statistician for the U. S. Department of Agriculture. While the drought has caused some damage to the late hay crops, and has been very hard on pastures, the work of harvesting has been speeded up so that nearly all crops are now in except some late corn.

Corn
Corn is turning out slightly better than was at first expected, the average yield so far being 17.6 bushels per acre, and the total probable production being around 50,240,000 bushels. This is a million bushels more than October forecast. The average yield last year was 18 bushels per acre, and the total production was 57,096,000 bushels.

Sweet Potatoes
Sweet potatoes are also yielding higher than was anticipated a month ago, the average yield of those that have been dug so far running around 110 bushels per acre, which indicates a total crop of 11,990,000 bushels. This is nearly two million bushels more than the October estimate. The quality of the crop is running a little better than last year, but prices are still remaining too low to be satisfactory to growers.

Syrup Crops
Sorghum is yielding about the same as last year, 88 gallons to the acre. The acreage this year is considerably less than last year, however, and the indicated total production is 3,896,000 gallons, as compared with 4,664,000 gallons last season. Sugar cane is being ground rapidly, and is yielding a splendid quality of syrup in most places; complete reports on yields are not yet available.

Other Crops
Pecans are already being shipped, but the crop is very short, not more than one-third as many as usual over the state, and in some places practically none; quality very good. Salsuma oranges are being gathered near the Gulf Coast, and around 6,000 boxes will probably be shipped out of the state besides those used locally.

Details of principal crops will be found in the tables below; production forecasts are subject to revision.

BANKERS LINING UP BEHIND COTTON ASSOCIATION

Jackson, Mississippi.—How the bankers of Mississippi can aid the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Marketing Association may be seen in a communication from Clyde Hendrix, president of the Alabama Bankers Association and also president of a chain of sixteen banks in the Tennessee valley, to the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation. The Cotton Marketing Association is already a big success in the state of Alabama and Mr. Hendrix is speaking for the bankers of the entire state of Alabama, when he states:

"There is another way in which the bankers of Mississippi can give material assistance in this movement and that is to advise their customers to sign up contracts with the association. The bankers are interested, of course, in helping their farmer customers in every way and I do not know of a better chance for real service than to use their influence in getting as many of their customers as possible to sign up in this campaign."

The organization work is well under way throughout the state and with the backing of the business men, the farmers of the State of Mississippi are going to see the Cotton Marketing Association through to a successful organization.

KAISER'S OPINION OF WILSON

The reading public is aware that the former Kaiser of Germany, from his hiding in Holland and whither he ran for protection when he deserted his people after the signing of the Armistice and when he saw that his own people realized that it was he and he alone that precipitated the war and brought upon them the sacrifice in blood and treasure that he had in writing for the press of the world his version of how "it happened." In the installments published the following appears. It will be observed that Kaiser Bill Hellman says about the same thing about Woodrow Wilson that Vardaman and many others of his kind have said. In passing, it is needless to brand as a lie that a "majority of the American people have arrayed themselves against Mr. Wilson."

"Nevertheless it must be noted that John Kenneth Turner, in his already mentioned book, 'Shall It Be Again?' show, on the basis of extensive proofs that all Wilson's reasons for America's entry into the war were fictitious, that it was far more a case of acting solely in the interest of Wall Street high finance."

"Already a very large part of the American people has arrayed itself against Mr. Wilson and is unwilling to be discredited along with him. I'm not dreaming of spontaneous American help for Germany; all I count upon is the sober acknowledgement by the American people that it has to make good the gigantic wrong done Germany by its former president. For the atmosphere of a victory does not last forever, and later on, not only in Germany, but elsewhere, people will remember the unreliability of the American president and look upon it as American unreliability."

"That is not a good thing, however, for the American people. To have the policy of a nation branded with the stigma of unreliability is not advantageous. When judgment is passed hereafter on American policy, people will forget that Mr. Wilson, unversed by the ways of the world, was trapped by Lloyd George and Clemenceau."

DIED IN SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS

Mrs. Lulu E. Klaerner died at her home in San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 8, and her remains were interred at Cruco, Texas. There are perhaps some of the Graysport community who will remember Mrs. Klaerner as the daughter of Mr. A. W. Evans.

EVER WATCHFUL

A Little Care May Save Many Granda Readers Future Trouble

Watch the kidney secretions. See that they have the amber hue of health.

The discharge not excessive or infrequent. Contain no "brick-dust like" sediment.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for weak kidneys.

Let a Winona citizen tell you how they work.

S. A. Fox, telegraph operator, Union St., Winona, Minn., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on a couple of occasions. My kidneys acted too often and annoyed me. I had a heavy drawing down feeling across the small of my back which hindered me from bending with ease. I found Doan's Kidney Pills just the medicine to give quick relief. I am glad to give Doan's my endorsement."

MORE OF THIRD DEGREE

The first duty of police investigation is not to "get confessions." It is to get the truth.

Therefore the inquisitors at New Brunswick, who have added a touch of atrocious comedy to the tragedy of a mysterious double murder, are hardly less culpable than the youth from whom they wrung false testimony of a sort intended to incriminate an innocent man.

Here is a good illustration of the endless harm that the misuse of third degree methods may do. Suspects isolated in a jail, harassed and kept awake and threatened and even beaten and starved by the police, often will say anything that will bring them even a short interval of relief from torment. They have been known to agree not only to themselves but to others.

Doubtless there are times when the application of the third degree is necessary and justifiable. But the persistent use of a method of torture borrowed from the Middle Ages is due for the most part to a lack of cleverness and resourcefulness on the part of the police themselves.

The less able detectives are to go out and obtain evidence in a decent and orderly manner the more likely it is that the third degree will be brutal extremes.—Evening Public Ledger

WEEKLY LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

By W. F. Bond, State Superintendent Jackson, Miss., Nov. 10, 1922.

The outlook for a favorable decision from the courts on the Equalizing School Fund is very encouraging.

If we had $50.00 to spare we would offer prizes to the teachers of the state for the best lesson plan on using the county paper in the classroom. All the teachers of Jackson County are reading the county paper.

The Annual High School Conference held in Jackson last week was the best and most largely attended meeting since its organization. Real work was done and committees appointed to make a study of the various phases of High School work and report with recommendations next fall. The Conference endorsed the idea of a uniform series of High School text books for all schools except those in towns with a population of 2500 persons or over.

CENTER OF NEGRO POPULATION OF 1920.

According to The Fourteenth Century Enumeration Center Lies in Extreme Northwestern Corner Of Georgia.

Washington, D. C.—The Department of Commerce announces that the center of the negro population as determined by the Bureau of the Census on the basis of the Fourteenth Census enumeration, taken January 1, 1920, is located in latitude 34 degrees, 46 minutes, 52 seconds, and longitude 85 degrees, 30 minutes, 48 seconds, being in the extreme northwestern corner of Georgia, in Dade County, about 1 3/4 miles north north east of Rising Fawn town, and that for the first time in the history of the country this center has moved northeast, being approximately 9.4 miles farther east and 19.4 miles farther north in 1920 than it was in 1916. Its former movements have all been in a southwesterly direction. In 1790 it was located 25 miles west southwest of Petersburg, Winiddle County, Virginia, and one hundred years later, in 1890, it had moved southwest 463 miles to a point 15.7 miles southwest of Lafayette, Walker County, Georgia, the same county in which 1890 and 1900 it crossed the state line into Alabama, its location in 1900 and again in 1910 being De Kalb County, Alabama. Its northward movement after 1910 has brought it back to the state of Georgia.

The northeasterly movement of the center of Negro population between 1910 and 1920 is due principally to the great increase in the Negro population of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan. The total increase in the Negro population of the United States was 635,368 and it will be noted that the increase in the northern states mentioned was 56 per cent of the total increase. This northward movement of the Negro population was due mainly to the expansion of certain industries during the World War, the high wages paid being the great attraction. It is probably true that there has been a considerable return movement since the war due to the depression in certain industries, and that a large number of negroes have moved south to their former homes.

THE NETHERLANDS

In considering the music of the low countries one must remember that the Netherlands include territory extending from the North Sea to the Somme in France, and that they comprise Holland, Flanders and Belgium.

It was in Flanders that the first school of polyphony, or the writing of part music, was established. The musicians of the Netherlands traveled to other countries of Europe and thus spread the knowledge of their art.

William Dufay, a Belgian (1400-74), which was the founder of the Netherlands school. Dufay and his successors wrote music in which the tenor part held the melody and the other voices were woven around it.

The four periods of the Netherlands School were headed by men of the highest rank. During the first epoch, technical mastery was aimed at. Johannes Ockeghem (1430-1513) was the supreme genius of this era.

Efforts to achieve beauty of tone marked the second period. Josquin des Pres (1450-1521), a pupil of Ockeghem, now led the rest. His work was notable for both its beauty and craftsmanship.

During the third era tone painting was further encouraged by its leaders, Adrain Willaert (1480-1562) and his associates. Willaert emigrated to Italy and founded an instrumental school at Venice.

The fourth and last epoch was presided over by Orlando di Lasso (1502-1594), called the "Prince of Musicians." During his regime technique was made subordinate to emotional expression. No less than 2500 compositions are credited to Lasso. In Italy, Lasso had a worthy rival in Palestrina. The music of both men is of a higher poetic and religious type.

When the Netherlands School was entirely polyphonic, folks songs existed at the same time. Folks tunes were used as leading melodies for polyphonic works.

Some of liberty and patriotism were numerous during the Spanish oppression of the sixteenth century. "Prince Williams" refers to an episode in the life of William the Silent. The hymn entitled "Let All With Dutch Blood Unite," shares honors with "Prince William" as the national song of Holland. The old Dutch war songs, "Bergen op Zoom," tells of the Spanish siege of Bergen in 1622. "La Brabanconne," the national anthem of Belgium, made its appearance in 1830, when the Belgians were haggling for freedom from the Dutch oppression. Since 1843 Belgium has been a separate kingdom. A new Flemish (Belgian) school was founded by Peter Benoit (1834-1901).

As a writer of oratorios he was unexcelled. He also wrote operas, songs and piano pieces. His influence on modern art has been far-reaching. Associated with Benoit in giving Flemish music a national character was Edgar Tincl (1854). Like his compatriot, he was also skilled in oratorio writing. "St. Francis of Assisi," is his finest composition. Paul Gibson and William Lekeu are other prominent composers of this land. In the past Viextemps and De Berol upheld the violin traditions of Belgium and now Eugene Ysaie continues them.

One of the Dutch pioneers in modern music was Richard Hol (1825-1904). As music critic, piano teacher and conductor, he contributed much toward his country's musical progress. Another distinguished Dutch musician is Julius Roentgen (1855). He was born in Leipzig but settled in Amsterdam in his twenty-second year.

Holland may boast one of the great est living conductors, viz: William Mengelberg. As guest conductor of the New York Philharmonic he has endeared himself to the American public.—New Orleans Daily States.

THERE'S ALWAYS A CHANCE

Don't be in too great a hurry To decide that all is lost; Don't be in haste to worry Over what your pleasures cost. Every minute spent in gladness Means a pleasant minute gained; Never go to meet the sadness Circumstances have detained.

If the lady's inclination Is to send you on your way, Don't give up in desperation, Women change their minds, they say; She may hear that Frank or Freddy Has a wooden leg, therefore Stick around, old kid; be ready When she leads him to the door.

If the boss has put another In the place you hoped to fill, Don't engage in sulking, brother, Prove your gameness bravely still. Next week or the week thereafter You may land a lucky stroke, By emitting loudest laughter When the boss has pulled a joke.

Don't give up your hopes too quickly Nor sit down in dismal doubt, Troubles may surround you thickly, But perhaps there's some way out; Do not let them turn you gravely From the triumphs you have planned; Every hope you cling to bravely Is a weapon in your hand.

INSTALL BATTERY SERVICE STATION

In this week's issue of The Sentinel may be seen the advertisement of the Meek Motor Co. stating that this concern has been appointed as the Service Station in this locality for the famous Exide Batteries. In addition to selling Exide batteries, the service includes the best of repair work on any make of battery.

The mechanical department of the Meek Motor Co. has recently been taken over by Mr. Warren Watson who is an expert and skilled auto repairman and mechanic and whose work is highly praised by the automobile trade in the Grenada territory. Mr. Watson's assistants are thoroughly experienced men but all repair work is given his personal supervision and the automobile owner may feel assured that the work is being well done.

Six months is a short time for a new remedy to take an exclusive place in an old druggist's opinion and in his store, but read this letter:

"We will state that Dr. Spivas Itch Remedy has given perfect satisfaction, that we have been selling it for the last six months, and have never had a kick on it. We think it the best itch remedy on the market and the only one we carry in stock, as we had so many kicks on all the others that we cut them out and only carry the one kind."

TO PLANT TREES ARBOR DAY

Today, Friday, November 17th, is Arbor Day. It is a day set aside for the planting of trees, shrubbery, etc., for the purpose of beautifying the community. At four o'clock this afternoon, the occasion will be fittingly observed in Grenada when two trees will be planted on the Jefferson Highway, just at the south end of the bridge over Yalobusha River. Mrs. H. J. Ray will present the trees and Hon. T. U. Sisson, present member of Congress from this District, will make the dedicatory speech. The first tree to be planted is in honor of Mr. J. T. Thomas, the President of the Jefferson Davis Highway Association in Mississippi, and the second tree will be in honor of Mr. W. B. Hoffa, who was the first State Vice-President of the association. Appropriate music will be one of the features of the event and a large crowd is expected to witness the ceremony.

MR. MAN, ARE YOU SELFISH

It seemed to be the consensus of opinion at a meeting of women recently, that all men are selfish.

"All men do not intend to be selfish, but they are," said one woman, and the rest agreed to it.

Now Mr. Man, you may intend to be a pretty liberal husband, and you may think you are not selfish, but—Can you answer the following questions affirmatively?

How often do you consult your wife when you want to play some game which necessitates your leaving her at home?

Is it not true that, rather than cut a conversation with some man, you will keep your wife waiting for you to come home to a meal?

Do you not select the most comfortable chair for yourself when you do come home for the evening?

And isn't it true that you actually conspire with other men to leave your wife together at some place where there is little enjoyment for them, while you and the other men have an opportunity to enjoy the things you like?

There are many things you do for your own comfort and amusement which do not include your wife. Think it over.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Louise Kimbrell Elected State President.

The Grenada "Girls Reserve" was represented at the conference in Yazoo City, November 10-12, by the following girls: Sallie Billups, Louise Kimbrell, Velma Koonce, Rowena Betz, Louise Smith and Louise Wilburn, and also by Miss Malone, our local advisor.

It was a most enjoyable and profitable session.

table visit, not only for the girls who were fortunate enough to be selected to represent our club, but for the club as a whole, because the girls returned home full of pep and with many new ideas of doing good work so much needed by all the school girls. They had the pleasure of knowing and hearing Miss Horner, who has charge of the girls' clubs in Mississippi, Miss Scurluck and Miss West, National Secretaries of the Y. W. C. A.

The girls also enjoyed two pageants, one given by the Yazoo City girls Friday night, showing the spirit of the Y. W. C. A.—how it reaches life, and in every station; another pageant was given by the Winona club Saturday morning, showing the spirit of Thanksgiving. Saturday night a very delightful banquet was given, with the help of mothers and boys, in the Elks' club. Sunday morning the new officers were installed at the Episcopal church, Louise Kimbrell, now president, taking the place of Dorothy Witty from Winona.

We are now expecting our Grenada club to "pick up" and be the very best club in the State.

Important Visitors

Wednesday morning Mr. W. T. Lowry, president of Blue Mountain College, and Rev. B. Winstead of Ackerman spoke to us during the chapel period.

Mr. Lowry took as his text, "Keep your heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life." This talk was a splendid one, and if all of us take the good thoughts and advice with us through every day of life, we shall indeed be better for having heard this christian gentleman speak.

Rev. Winstead also gave us some points on good living. It is of interest to know that he was at one time one of "Mr. Rundle's boys." He is one of the many that our able superintendent has helped along the journey of life.

Mr. Jacob, superintendent of the Mississippi Industrial School, Colum bus, visited the class rooms and watched us at work Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. Willis of Hattiesburg conducted the chapel exercises Thursday morning.

Singing Complimented

It is very seldom that a visitor fails to compliment the excellent singing of the high school at the chapel period. Our boys and girls enter into the songs each morning with a vim, and it does one good to listen. The visitors this week thanked the pupils for the excellent singing. Much of this is due to Miss Dill, the leader.

Basket Ball Team Practicing

The girls' basket ball team is practicing each afternoon, coached by Misses Temple and Buchanan. They are looking forward to a good game on Dec. 2, with Charleston. Give them your support!

6. Persons may work together in preparing their list, but only one prize will be awarded to any one household. Nor will more than one prize be awarded to any group outside of the family where two or more have been working together.
7. In the event of a tie for any prize offered, the full amount of such prize will be paid to each person so tied. The correct list will be made up of correct words submitted by contestants, and will not consist of any "pre-determined" list.
8. Three well known citizens of Memphis, having no connection with The Commercial Appeal, will act as judges. They will use as their authority Webster's New International Dictionary and contestants agree to accept their decision as final and conclusive.
9. These judges will meet directly following the close of the Puzzle Game, and the names of the Prize Winners and the winning list of words, together with the correct list, will be published in The Commercial Appeal just as quickly thereafter as the judges can complete the checking.

RUSSELL AND CASTEEL LOCK HORNS OVER PARDONS

Lieutenant governor's legal adviser in the matter. Mr. Eastland is especially interested in the case of Walker Cleveland as they were "boys together," and he has been making an earnest effort for some time to get the negro pardoned.

Made Second Attempt

Apparently forestalled in his first attempt to pardon the negroes, having been notified by Secretary Dinkins that the governor was on Mississippi soil, Lieutenant Governor Casteel had additional pardons made out late Saturday afternoon, on the assumption that the governor had returned to Memphis to witness the football game, but in this it seems he was mistaken, since advices indicate that the governor did not again stray beyond his jurisdiction during the day, and was forced to miss a perfectly good football game.

Each of the convicts now has two pardons, but it remains for the courts to decide whether they are pardons and the lieutenant governor says this is what he is going to insist that the courts do. The second pardons were issued about 5 p. m., Saturday. They will be formally submitted to the prison board secretary on Monday, who in turn is expected to transmit them to the superintendent of the penitentiary, with the usual papers. It is then up to Superintendent James Williamson to decide which order he will obey as Gov. Russell has also given him strict instructions. It is assumed that Superintendent Williamson will obey the governor, and a habeas corpus proceeding to secure the release of the prisoners will follow.

Bad Feeling Exists

Bad feeling exists between Governor Russell and Lieutenant Governor Casteel and has prevailed for some time. The enmity is personal as well as political and they scarcely speak as they pass by.

Governor Russell has been in office more than two years, and he has never given the lieutenant governor an opportunity to exercise the functions of office. On several occasions he has quietly slipped out of the state, but only for a day or so at a time, and has never notified the lieutenant governor of his intended absence.

The political animosity dates back several years, when the lieutenant governor forestalled Russell's plans for organization of the senate when the latter was lieutenant governor, and on several occasions during the past two years has been an important factor in passing bills over the governor's veto.

Indebtedness Grows

During the past two years, that is since December 31, 1920 to date, additional bonds for roads and bridges in the various counties of the state have perhaps been issued totaling six or eight million dollars. If this is correct, then the total present indebtedness of the 82 counties for road and bridge purposes alone, totals $50,000,000 with the enormous aggregate total of $60,000,000.

It is not believed that the people of Mississippi generally have had any idea that the bonded indebtedness of the counties for these purposes reached any such tremendous sum. This large bonded indebtedness has been contracted in practically the last ten years and is now rapidly increasing. In fact, for about a decade "the brakes have been off" in the state and bonds have been issued and debts have been incurred at a furious rate.

When it is remembered that many of the counties owe other bonds than those issued for roads and bridges and that some owe large amounts for borrowed money for which no bonds have been issued; and when it is also remembered that most of the municipalities of the state owe debts—some evidenced by bond issues and some otherwise, and that the state itself owes now the largest bonded indebtedness since its admission into the Union—it is easy to see that the public indebtedness of Mississippi is not only enormous but that it has reached the point, as it is being said by many, where it may prove dangerous to the welfare of the people.

While prices of farm products and other things may go down, it is evident that there is little prospect of taxes going down with the enormous public indebtedness of state, county, districts of various kinds, and municipalities, hanging over the taxpayers and the people.

Poor System

Perhaps few states in the union have as poor system as has Mississippi for the collection of helpful information with reference to taxation. Many states give their tax commissions authority to collect such information and local officers are compelled by law to furnish the same. In some states these reports show the amount of county taxes, state taxes, school taxes, roads, county and district taxes, and all other taxes paid by the citizens of each municipality and county and for the entire state.

Under the laws of Mississippi at present it is impossible for such compilations to be made. It would seem most important for the people of the state to have information showing them how much taxes are being collected from them and just how and where and when in order that they may know whether or not they are being taxed beyond their ability to pay. Such available official statistical data would also enable them to consider the benefits derived from such taxation and to see whether or not the benefits are commensurate with the amount of taxes collected and the money spent.

This apparently is becoming such a burning question that it cannot escape being an issue in the coming Democratic primaries for the nomination of state and legislative officers, and the prediction is freely made that the next legislature will enact laws giving the people full and complete information touching all the subject matters above mentioned.

Year's Budget Stresses Relief and Services at Home and Overseas.

MILLIONS FOR VETERAN AID

Over $3,000,000 Allotted to the Disabled—Foreign Work
Lessens.

Washington.—Expenditures totaling $9,739,872.47 for carrying through its program of services and relief during the fiscal year in the United States and overseas are authorized in the budget of the American Red Cross, effective July 1, 1922. This total is $2,735,975 less than the expenditures for the last fiscal year, when disbursements reached $12,475,847.69, it is announced at National Headquarters in a statement emphasizing the necessity of continued support of the organization by enrollment during the annual Roll Call, November 11-November 30 inclusive. This total for the budget is exclusive of the large financial operations of the 3,300 active Red Cross Chapters, which, it is estimated, will more than double the total.

War Veterans Have First Call

First call on Red Cross funds is for the disabled ex-service men, of whom 27,487 were receiving treatment from the Government on June 1 last. This work for veterans and their families in a wide variety of service that the Government is not authorized to render and for which it has neither funds nor facilities has the call on $3,030,692.90 during the current year, or about $366,000 more than was expended last year for soldier service. Adding the funds disbursed in this humanitarian work of physical reconstruction following the World War by the Chapters throughout the country will approximate a total for the current year approaching $10,000,000. This work, in the opinion of the Surgeon General's office, will not reach its peak before 1926.

Through its Chapters the American Red Cross is equipped to find the individual ex-service man, help him in his problems and difficulties, provide immediately for his necessities, and open the way for him to the Government compensation and aid to which he is entitled. The extension of this work to the families of such men proves to them that the Red Cross has lost none of its sympathy nor will to service manifested in wartime. Similarly the service goes out to the men still in the Army and Navy, 11,087 of whom were under treatment in Government hospitals on June 1, 1922.

Greater Domestic Program

This year—after five years of constructive effort during the war and after the armistice—brings with it a greater responsibility for domestic service to the American Red Cross. The budget for foreign operations, however, totals $3,404,000, but of this amount $1,884,000 is for medical relief and hospital supplies for Russia, which is a part of the gift made by the American Red Cross in 1921 to the Russian famine relief work of the American Relief Administration program. The child health service in Europe continues, moreover, and $654,000 is appropriated for this work undertaken in 1920. Other items in the stringently diminished foreign program include $200,000 to support the League of Red Cross Societies, $22,000 for nurses' training schools instituted by the Red Cross abroad, and $600,000 for liquidation of the general Red Cross foreign relief program.

Prepared for Emergencies

For disaster relief the Red Cross has set aside $750,000, and for emergencies in Chapter work $500,000 to be available for domestic, insular and foreign demands. This is more than $395,000 above last year's expenditures. For service and assistance to the 3,300 Chapters and their branches $1,293,000 is provided by the National organization.

Other budget items of importance in the domestic program include $200,000 for assistance to other organizations and education institutions for training Red Cross nurses and workers; $190,000 for Roll Call assistance furnished to Chapters; $100,000 for unforeseen contingencies.

Of the total budget less than $500,000 is allotted for management in the National organization. No cash estimate, of course, is possible to weigh the value of the service by volunteers in the Chapters.

GAIN 500,000 NEW MEMBERS

November

Total cash collections on the Baptist 75 Million Campaign up to May 1, 1922, had reached the sum of $35,152,211.69, according to the general Campaign headquarters. This represents an advance of nearly $20,000,000 over what Southern Baptists did for their general missionary, educational and benevolent work for the three years preceding the Campaign.

The contribution of larger gifts to religious work has been accompanied by larger spiritual results in the local churches. It is pointed out. For instance, Southern Baptists baptized 150,000 more converts during the first three years of the Campaign than they did in the three years before, gained 3,000 new Sunday schools and 400,000 new pupils, enhanced the value of their local church property by $33,000,000, enlarged their contributions to local causes by $22,330,000, and increased their contributions to all causes by $43,480,490.

Baptist Institutions Grow

Some other phases of denominational progress made possible by the Campaign include increasing the number of Baptist hospitals in the South from 12 to 19, with three others under construction and four more definitely planned; strengthening of 17 Baptist orphanages and the establishment of two new ones, lifting $3,000,000 indebtedness on 119 Baptist schools, colleges and seminaries, completion and projection of permanent improvements there in the sum of $4,000,000, and the addition of substantial sums to the endowment funds. Over 2,500 ministerial students are enrolled at Southern Baptist schools.

Church Loan Fund Raised

Among the outstanding accomplishments in the work of the Home Mission Board are the aiding of 1,000 churches in building new houses of worship, the completion of the million-dollar Church Building Loan Fund, strengthening the work among the foreigners and Indians and the 38 Mountain mission schools. The Board has employed an average of 1,495 workers during the Campaign and reports for that period 134,832 baptisms, 218,371 additions to churches, 2,276 Sunday schools and 759 churches organized, and 1,409 houses of worship built or repaired.

On the foreign fields the equipment for mission work has been practically doubled, more than 250 new foreign missionaries have been sent out, more than 400 new native workers have been employed, and the Board has entered the new fields of Spain, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Roumania, Southern Russia, Palestine and Siberia. The Board reports for the period of the Campaign 117 new churches on the foreign fields, 21,723 baptisms, 211 new Sunday schools, gain of 17,576 pupils, native contributions of $1,003,390.68, and $29,642 treatments administered by medical missionaries.

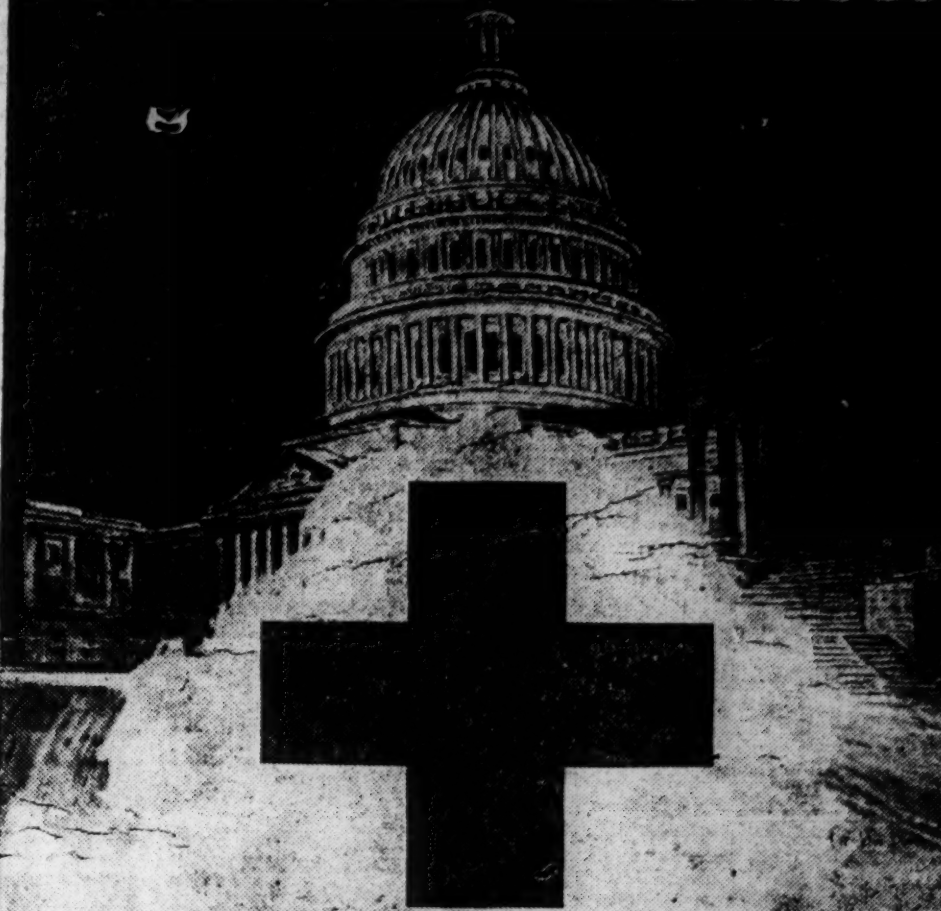

Another result of the Campaign is that the Relief and Annuity Board, which is seeking to care for the aged dependent ministers and their families, has been enabled to double the number of such persons helped and the amount that is given these beneficiaries. Last year the Board was able to dispense $128,966 among needy ministers. It has invested assets of $1,149,088.

Receive 500,000 New Members

More than 500,000 new members have been received into the local Baptist churches of the South since the Campaign began, and in the hope of enlisting all these in the Campaign, as well as reaching the older members of the churches who have not shared in the forward movement heretofore, the month of November 5-December 3 has been designated as Re-enforcement Month by the Campaign Conservation Commission. During this month it is planned that every Baptist church in the South will call upon all its members who are not already participating in the Campaign and secure subscriptions from them covering the two remaining years of the movement, and cash offerings to the Campaign from all the members. Dr. L. R. Scarborough, of Fort Worth, Texas, who was general director of the original Campaign, has been elected to serve in that capacity for the Re-enforcement program, although the details are being worked out in the various states under the leadership of the secretaries of the state mission boards. It is hoped to secure several million dollars in additional subscriptions and several million in cash as well by December 1.

Riveting the attention of the beholder on the fact that the American Red Cross is chartered by Congress as an official volunteer relief organization the dome of the Capitol at Washington, upon which is superimposed a large Red Cross, is the central figure of a new poster for the Annual Red Cross Roll Call. The poster, which has been pronounced one of the most striking of innumerable representations of the famous dome, is the work of Franklin Booth, a New York artist of wide renown. It will be displayed throughout the country during the Roll Call period, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, when the Red Cross membership for 1923 will be enrolled.
